Innisfree Grown Products Creating Community Connections

For some community members, Saturday mornings are spent at the Crozet Farmers Market selling Innisfree grown products. From the many varieties of lettuce and kale to fresh cucumbers, kohlrabi, carrots, and cabbages, as well as fresh herbs and flowers, we have an abundance of rotating products to share each by volunteers and coworkers for bouquets. Connie, our vegetable garden workstation head, along with weekly help from staff and volunteers, has been the hands and feet at the farmers market, creating connections with the community while providing quality goods that bring awareness to all the wonderful things that make Innisfree an enriching and meaningful community.

week. Our homemade breads, crackers, and granola are also a big hit, and our fresh farm eggs have been popular as well. Throughout the week, our staff, volunteers, and coworkers work diligently to prepare goods for sale. Just imagine the sweet and savory aromas of fresh baked bread from the ovens on Friday afternoons, vegetables just picked from the gardens being cleaned and prepped by our coworkers, or a handful of fresh cut flowers arranged

Junefest 2019

We tried something new this year and it was a huge success! We combined our annual Mayfair family event with our music festival, creating a new celebration called Junefest!

Our families enjoyed brunch in their coworkers' houses and then joined us for the public portion of the music festival. We loved having everyone together to enjoy great music, local food and wine, a little shopping, and the beauty our land provides. Cheers!

Fired Up's performance brings up the heat with Hakan on the bass and Biff on percussion.
